Matter description

Piper Alderman advised the buyer of the SAWA Aggregation of four cattle stations in the Kimberley region of Western Australia, comprising over 1 million hectares and approximately 47,000 head of cattle.

The complex $100 million deal involved securing approvals from the Foreign Investment Review Board, Pastoral Lands Board and Western Australian cabinet when controversy over foreign investment was arguably at its peak. The deal is one of the largest ever of its type in Western Australia.

The deal capped off over $700 million of corporate agribusiness transactions the Piper Alderman team advised on in 2016.

What our client said

Dale Champion, director of CAPH said:

“I cannot speak highly enough of the service provided by the team at Piper Alderman, and would specifically call out Simon Venus and Bianca Battistella for their efforts. The team showed unwavering commitment, patience and flexibility throughout what was a landmark transaction for the region and in turn for our investors.”
